Dreams Racing Dreams Steve Wood, Naser Musa

Miles after miles and our travels never brought us together.
Burdens, worried thoughts, and unsettled souls my sweet home.

No matter how much the days will keep us apart
We will always be in love with you
Dreams racing other dreams to get back to your soil,
Peacefully.

Oh years after years and we are lost in this hard life
Yearning or longing that makes even the longing longing cry.
We are lost and struggling in diaspora
Away from home

And until we will all meet on your land with our families and loved ones.
Most precious land my sweet home
On your soil we will forget all our sadness.
No matter how long a human being stays away.
His destiny is always to go back to his homeland

God Only Knows What I Am Going Through

Oh, love of my life have mercy.
My heart is suffering from you being away
Ask the nigh stars about my situation with you being gone
God only knows...

I wonder if she has forgotten me.
Or maybe found another to love while she is gone
I am suffering alone
My tong is unable to express my feeling
God only knows.....

I ask you by the name of God, you how have gone away
Have compassion and mercy towards my melted heart (or broken hearted)
Explain and tell me your reasons for leaving.
Maybe then I will understand, but in the mean time.
God only knows what I am going through.....

Once Upon A Time

Once upon a time long time ago
There used to be neighbors and friends
And love that wasn't separated by walls
In a land where hearts were their homes

Things happened
And times changed
Now there's no more neighbors, no more friends
Strangers in the same home
And their hearts are now walls between them

We should go back, as it used to be
Breaking down the walls of our lives
And meet again in the homeland of our hearts

Without love what value does humanity have Let's go back, as it used to be

Years

Years and years oh flower in the sand
Waiting for the train of banishment
You sing in harmony and the whole universe is your melody
A sight beyond imagination

You never told me, you never told me
About any of the stories of the cold
You amaze me again, you amaze me again
Oh flower that is unlike any other

You didn't know you would become

A tree of joy
Your beauty has increased
You are a shelter for the birds

Years and years oh flower in the desert
You hug the stars in heaven
In peace and comfort your value has increased
May god always protect you.
